

In re RANDOLPH E. WALDRON, Case No. 97-34805-BKC-SHF

Debtor/father filed a bankruptcy using his son's social security number. The son requested that the Court clarify the bankruptcy record to indicate that the son did not file the case. The son provided copies of his social security card, driver's license, social security statements, among other documents, all of which indicate that the debtor/father fraudulently utilized the son's social security number when he filed the bankruptcy. Accordingly, the Court clarified in its order that the son was not the individual who filed the case.
